

The Currajong School, East Malvern VIC Soft-Fall Playground System™

Before Installation

Jenine Pallant, School Principal had this to say:

"We are so pleased we went with Gecko, it was a pleasure to do business with a company with such a high level of professionalism and friendliness.

We have seen an improvement in the way our students interact on the playground. They enjoy sitting and chatting in groups on the new turf. The staff enjoy taking class groups outside to do activities and silent reading on the turf which is soft and comfortable.

We couldn't be happier with our consultant, he was wonderful to deal with – very understanding of the timeframe constraints with school holidays. He was great with the communication – we knew what was going to happen and when."

The Currajong School is an independent school for children experiencing severe social, emotional and behavior difficulties and has been providing specialist education since 1974.

The Currajong School were looking for a low maintenance playground surface which would eliminate the need to continually top up tanbark in order to comply with the Australian Safety Standards.

The ideal surface would not only improve student safety but would also provide an aesthetically pleasing play area for student and staff to enjoy.

Principal, Jenine Pallant searched the internet looking for a company that had experience with other schools. She felt Gecko Surfacing possessed both the products and experience that they were seeking for their project.

After Installation

After Installation

Gecko Soft-Fall Playground System™ was installed in two playground areas which incorporated adventure playground equipment used daily by students during the school terms. Every effort was made to ensure that the project timeframes worked around the needs of the school, keeping them up to date every step of the way.

The school is exceptionally happy with the new playground surface. It provides a relaxed, safe and attractive area that is enjoyed by students and staff alike. When asked if they would recommend Gecko to others their response was, "I would certainly recommend your product to others, it looks fabulous; the students love playing on it and it is safe. I couldn't fault the company, great service and excellent installation."
